Social Networking and E-Safety at CCJ

In line with the message given from the infants school and the learning our pupils have been doing in E-Safety lessons in class we want to outline some of the guidelines we hope our community will follow to help keep all the children in school safe and to protect you from possible consequences of your online actions. It is the responsibility of all of us to model good use of the internet to our children.

Social networking is used everywhere and is a common feature of many people's lives. Part of our role as a school is to ensure that no confidential information about a child or family is unintentionally disclosed by a parent/carer or a member of staff. There have been several high profile cases in the news when people making offensive comments on social media have been prosecuted.

Please consider carefully the guidance below about parent/carer/volunteer responsibilities.

- At all times be respectful of others.
- Never include children's full names (even your own children's).
- Never post or tag photographs etc without ensuring that you have the right permission.
- If there is something you are concerned about in school please contact the school to sort it out rather than discussing it on Facebook, for example.
- Everyone who adds to online sites is responsible for any comments posted under their name.
- If you are aware that sites are being misused you have a responsibility to report this.
- If an online conversation looks as if it might be derogatory you should not get involved in the discussion and refer the person to the school.
- You should not accept children as friends on a social networking site.
- If you want to set up a site that refers to your child's school then please let the school know.
- If the site is representing the school then please make sure that the good name of the school is preserved and not brought into disrepute.

Thank you for helping us to model good, safe use of the internet and social media to our pupils. Some parents have asked for more support and information on this area and so an E-Safety Parents Meeting is being organised for the summer term. In the meantime please see the links on our E-Safety website page and keep talking about the SMART rules at home.

Road Safety Awareness

This week our year 3 and year 6 classes have been visited by the Road Safety Team and have learnt more about how to keep themselves safe as they become more independent. Please try to have a discussion with your children about this important topic over the weekend and in the run up to the Easter Holidays.

School Dinners

We have received lots of positive comments about our school meals after our wonderful cooks served up some favourites at parents evening on Thursday. There will be a new menu for Term 5 published on the website as soon as possible.
